- If you are specifically worried about denial, message us separately your situation, so we can review your details and guide you what's best thing to do.
- We had clients who got approved even who had DUI(Driving under influence), its just you need to stay around 7 to 10 days in Mexico, until you complete lab tests (In Home Country, this process takes few weeks to few months time as far as we heard).
- Worst case scenario – you need to plan to fly to home country(which is very very rare case), we can guide you with info when needed.

What to do if I get 221g in Mexico?

- About 221g in Mexico : It usually takes 3 to 7 days to clear 221g in most cases as per 2020 and 2021
- It's based on different 221g's too...Common one's are Sevis check, PIMS check, etc.,
- In few locations in Mexico, in 2021 & 2019 few members were able to come back through border poe locations using I-797A while 221g is pending and went back once 221g got resolved
- Based on all statistics – 221g are less than home country & clearance times for 221g are far better (1-7 business days in most cases), where as in home country it takes months too.
- Worst Case Scenario – If it's taking more time to resolve 221g – more than 2 to 3 weeks, you can plan to fly to home country and attend there.
- Even DUI cases got their medical tests done & stamped in less than 2 weeks
